Last year, the first "Chess School" of the Russian Military Historical Society was opened at the Museum of Military Uniform in Moscow. In it, children are taught the basic rules and techniques of playing chess.

Continued to Khabarovsk, Samara, Tatarstan and Yekaterinburg. Thank you very much. Thank you for support to our cooperation with the Russian Chess Federation, we are trying to popularize the most unusual military-historical game. Chairman of the Russian Military Historical Society Vladimir Medinsky.

Vladimir Rostislavovich also proposed at the end of the year to invite the three best students from each region where the schools of the Russian Military Historical Society will be opened to Moscow. The children will be able to take part in a chess tournament and visit the New Year's tree.

The plans include the appearance of children's "Chess Schools" of the Russian Military Historical Society in other regions of Russia.

- We plan to open at least ten more schools in ten regions of the country, because it is difficult to come up with a more military-historical game, where there is a deep history, tactics, and strategy. Literally from today, the Chess Federation of Russia will hold weekly master classes for our schools in the regions. - said the executive director of the RVIO Vitaly Martynyuk.

The opening of the "Chess School" on the basis of the Museum of Military Uniform in Moscow has become a place of attraction for the youngest chess fans in the capital. Now this experience will be passed on to colleagues from the regions.

"This is not only an important event for our school, but also an important event for the development of chess in our country. I want to wish all students to become champions and never be upset about losses, because this is part of the future win," said Ksenia Mukhina, director of the Chess School of the Russian Military Historical Society in Moscow.

Chairman of the Tambov branch of the Russian Military Historical Society Alexander Vorobyov thanked the Russian Military Historical Society for the opening of the "Chess School" in the Tambov region and noted the importance of the project for the younger generation.

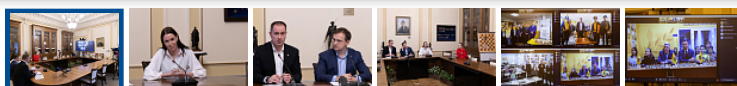

- Many thanks from all residents of Tambov, from all chess lovers. This is really an opportunity for us to popularize this game. Thank you for the provided tables, which will allow us to organize a playing space on the street. Of course, we are sure that the chess school of the Russian Military Historical Society will bring up future grandmasters and champions, - said Alexander Vorobyov.

Representatives of the Regional Chess Schools shared their impressions of the start of the Regional Chess Schools branches: Chairman of the Sevastopol branch of the Russian Military Historical Society Nikolai Pomogalov, Executive Director of the Kaliningrad branch of the Russian Military Historical Society Konstantin Petunin and Chairman of the Yaroslavl branch of the Russian Military Historical Society Anatoly Kashirin.

The event ended with a chess master class from grandmaster, Honored Master of Sports of Russia, five-time champion of Russia Valentina Gunina.

Recall that in early June 2024, the "Chess Club" of the Russian Military Historical Society began its work on Gogolevsky Boulevard in Moscow. The emergence of a new intellectual space became an incentive for the opening of "Chess Clubs" throughout the country. In 2024, 27 of them were opened in 24 regions of Russia.
